Sacred Valley in two days: how to organise visits and transfers

An organisational outline, without scale or transfer times. Adapt the order to your accommodation, access conditions and next connection.

Day 1 · Make Pisac your main visit

Departure · Cusco towards Pisac · Before setting out, confirm where the park visit starts and how you will then travel to the town. The archaeological park and the town need their access arrangements planned separately.

Finish · continue to your accommodation · Arrange the transfer through the valley and confirm where you will stay. If time is short, keep that endpoint and leave out an extra stop.

Day 2 · Ollantaytambo and your next departure

Start · from your chosen base · Arrange pickup from your actual accommodation address. If you already stay in Ollantaytambo, confirm where you will meet your guide or adviser.

Finish · return or planned connection · Give the final transfer its own time. If your itinerary continues from Ollantaytambo station, confirm the required arrival time and luggage arrangements. If returning to Cusco, agree on the pickup point.

If you prefer Chinchero and a weaving visit

Replace day one with Cusco → Chinchero → accommodation in the valley. First confirm the workshop's time and exact location. Arrange the heritage and textile visits around that appointment and keep Ollantaytambo for day two. Choosing this alternative leaves Pisac for another occasion.

Before you finalise the plan

1. What main visit have I chosen for each day?
2. Where am I staying and where will I be picked up?
3. Which stops do I replace if I choose Chinchero?
4. How will luggage move between accommodation and departure?
5. Which access conditions do I need to confirm?
6. When and where does day two end?
