SOUTH VALLEY · WATER, TOWN AND ART

Cusco’s South Valley: how to plan Tipón, Pikillaqta and Andahuaylillas

Cusco / Tipón / Pikillaqta / Andahuaylillas

Suggested order from Cusco. The approach to Tipón branches off the main road towards the archaeological park. Allow for that extra leg and confirm the drop-off point for each visit. Use the map link to locate the stops and review the driving route.

See the three stops on the map

Tipón · Water and engineering

Prioritise this stop if engineering interests you. Check the road approach and which sections are open before heading up.

Pikillaqta · Streets and enclosures

Prioritise this stop if the town layout interests you. Confirm which sections you can visit and decide how far you want to walk.

Andahuaylillas · Art and architecture

Prioritise the church if art is your focus. Confirm visiting hours and any religious activities before setting the order.

Build the day around your main stop

Before departure · Arrange your pickup in Cusco, check access and confirm whether you can visit the church. If its visiting window determines the day, adjust the order with your adviser.

Between stops · Allow for getting to each drop-off point, walking and taking a break. Check how much time remains after Tipón before continuing.

Before returning · Agree on the meeting point and return time. Set aside that margin before deciding whether to extend the final visit.

For a shorter outing, choose two perspectives

Tipón + Pikillaqta / Tipón + Andahuaylillas / Pikillaqta + Andahuaylillas

Machu Picchu Luna Tours